We started 2020 off with a series called Life on Purpose, learning about how to live with real intentionality. At that time, no one could have imagined we would be dealing with a pandemic, which has consumed so much of our thoughts, time, energy and efforts. If you are like many others, your 2020 is not where you thought it would be at this point. That's why we're going to Refocus 2020.

During the Refocus 2020 series, we will learn how to refocus our heart, head and hands in order to finish out 2020 strong. We will discover practical and tangible ways to center our lives on Christ and live with intentionality no matter what we may be facing in life. You will be inspired to refocus on the things that matter the most and take action to grow in the love of Jesus. This year is not what we expected, but we will be renewed and ready to finish the year strong as we refocus on God!

Refocus 2020: Good News for Bad Times

1. Have you ever said something you wished you could take back?
2. Consider a time when this has happened to you. What was the motivation behind your words? I would venture to guess your words were not “God inspired.”
3. Read Psalm 71:14-16.
4. In verse 15, what is the Psalmist repeating? What is he talking about all day long?
5. In verse 16, what is the Psalmist dwelling on? What is he helping others to remember?
6. If all your words and conversations were recorded for one year and placed into a book, what would the book be about?
7. What genre would the book be placed in the library?
8. What would you title the book?
9. Read Ephesians 4:29.
10. What are some things our words should do or accomplish?
11. Over the next week assume your words are going to be turned into a book. Like the Psalmist, consider how your words will add to the praises of God and be useful in building others up in the faith.
12. Spend time in prayer.
