OBITUARY

Stephanie Slade Badgley, beloved wife, mother, daughter, sister, and friend, passed away in McKinney, Texas, in September 2025 at the age of 49.

Stephanie was born in 1976 in Ironwood, a small town in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, a place she always held dear and spoke of with deep affection. During her adolescence and teenage years, she lived in Greater Phoenix, before life's journey carried her to many corners of the country.

She made her home in Seattle, where she fell in love with the beauty of the Pacific Northwest and often called it one of her favorite places. Later, Stephanie moved with her husband Rick and their boys to Manhattan Beach, California, where she embraced the ocean and coastal life. For the past decade, McKinney, Texas has been home, where Stephanie, Rick, and their sons grew together as a family and learned to thrive in the Texas heat.

A woman of generosity and spirit, Stephanie gave back in countless ways—to charities, friends, family, and her community. She was especially proud to complete her online bachelor's degree at Texas A&M, both to show her sons and to remind herself that goals are always worth pursuing. She was a true adventurer, a great admirer of life and people, and a constant source of kindness and love to all who knew her.

Stephanie is survived by her devoted husband, Rick; her sons, Jackson and Cameron; her mother, Cathy Hoban; her stepfather, John Calhoun; her sister, Julia Cali, and Julia's husband Michael and their sons.

She will be remembered as one of the kindest people anyone could meet—someone who loved fiercely, gave selflessly, and whose spirit touched all those around her. She will be deeply missed.
